A hectic four nights of racing, over a 10 day span, is the daunting schedule facing the Daracon Croft Racing Dirt Late Model Team in the next few weeks.

Starting with Round 7 of the East Coast Late Model Series at Tyrepower Parramatta City Raceway (NSW) on Friday January 16, the action transfer's south to the Fire Service Plus Nowra Speedway (NSW) Saturday January 17 for the Inter-state Challenge, before the team returns to Parramatta for the inaugural two night Casio G Shock Gold Cup Saturday January 24 and Sunday January 25.

“With four race nights in close proximity it promises to be a real test of man and machine, and a logistical challenge for all teams” said Daracon Croft Racing Team Principal and driver Ken Croft.

“Its great to see the Dirt Late Model ranks here on the East Coast continuing to build, and with the addition of a strong interstate presence over the next 14 days the future for the division is looking extremely solid”.

“I’m really excited about the Casio G Shock Gold Cup in particular, and would personally like to see a 50 lap Feature. That would be a great test of driver skill and fitness levels, together with car setup. Having a good long distance race here on the East Coast would certainly help to boost the divisions profile to a really high level” Croft said.

“From the Daracon Croft Racing prospective we’ve enjoyed a good start to the season, with the last four Features at Parramatta reaping us a 3rd, 2nd, and two 4ths”.

“We continue to take a conservative approach to our chassis setup, and that’s paying dividends at the moment. Having said that we will be aiming to step up further in the next few weeks. We plan to take each nights racing on its own individual merit, but I don’t mind saying that it would be a fantastic feeling to stand on top of the podium at the end of the Casio G Shock Gold Cup Feature” concluded Croft.

Following a consistent start to the season Ken Croft and the Daracon Croft Racing Team are now 5th in the 2008/09 East Coast Late Model Series Pointscore.
